

Club Meeting.

The Republican Club of Pomerooy will meet on Wednesday night, at the Court House. Let there be a full turnout.—Come out, Republicans, and let us have a rousing meeting! The election approaches, and our friends in other places are awake and working. All that wants to swell up a majority of a thousand in this county, is zeal and an effort on the part of those who feel the importance of the campaign.

Attention, Wide-Awakes.

We are requested to give notice that a meeting will be held at the Court-house, on this (Tuesday) evening, to form a "Wide-Awake Club." Let every Republican who can, and all others who feel an interest in the coming election, attend this meeting. It is time the camp-fires were lighted in every township in the county. All that is wanted is to arouse the dormant patriotism of the people, to give such a majority in Meigs County as was never given before; and Wide-Awake Clubs are the very instruments with which to do this. Come to the meeting! And especially, let every young, active, live Republican come! Don't forget, Tuesday night.

THE DEMOCRATIC CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION.

Which met at Logan last week, nominated C. D. Martin for Congress. His competitors in the Convention were John Fairfield, Finch, of Perry, and perhaps others. Martin, we believe, was nominated on the first ballot. We suppose this was the result of a nice political calculation. It will require all the votes of all the Democrats—and we hope a few more—to defeat Mr. Horton. It was necessary, therefore, to find a candidate who could unite them all. This required scientific engineering. The other candidates were simply Douglas men. That was very good as far as it went, but the Douglas men alone could not elect. Our friend Martin had this advantage over his competitors: He has been a year in Congress, and while there voted with the Administration every time. This gives him a mortgage on the Breckinridge form. Since his return home, we are informed, he is a Douglas man, and will, no doubt, remain so until called upon to vote again in Congress. This will secure him the votes of the Douglas wing. The position is a most fortunate one for the young Statesman of Lancaster, and if it does not secure his election there is no use for two strings to a bow.

We have no complaints to make in regard to Mr. Martin's support of the Administration. He could not well do otherwise. Men may dodge behind quibbles and double-meaning phrases before the people, but when it comes to vote on a question in Congress there are but two sides to it—yes, or no. Mr. Martin, therefore, was compelled, on every question, to vote with the Republicans, in favor of all such measures as tended to benefit free labor, and promote the interests and welfare of the masses of the people, or to vote with the Southern disunionists for the schemes of the slave-traders as represented through the Buchanan Administration. There could be no subterfuge. It was a simple yes, or no. And Mr. Martin being a "Democrat" could not vote yes with the Republicans, and therefore his name is recorded uniformly with the Administration—Slave-Code-Breckinridge-Disunionists of the South. We never expected him to do otherwise, and he did not disappoint us. What is the use of being a Democrat if you don't vote with your Democratic brethren? Mr. Martin did so vote. Every Administration man, therefore, should vote to send him back, where he will pursue the same course, simply because he can't pursue any other, without voting with the Republican members, and against his own party.

But on the stump, when talking and not voting is the business, Mr. Martin can very well be a Douglas Democrat, because it will pay to be such. And won't the Douglas men triumph in his election. True, their "great principle" cannot be benefited by him, because there is no possibility of bringing it to a test for the want of a contrivance by which a vote can have three sides to it. But here stands the stubborn fact that the vote must be either yes! or no! upon every proposition, and there is no process yet invented by which a Douglas man can sustain his speech by his vote. Mr. Martin, therefore, is not to be blamed for his votes. And as no other Douglas man could avoid this necessity, we don't see why they may not all vote for Mr. Martin. If they will look at the matter calmly, they will see that their doctrine was not invented for use, in voting in Congress, but to get the votes of the people to send gentlemen to that honorable body.

For this purpose Mr. Martin will do as well as any other, and he has the advantage, as before stated, of having secured the Administration party in his favor by his course during the last session. For these and other good and sufficient reasons, we rejoice in the nomination of Mr. Martin. Furthermore, aside from his politics, Charles is a good fellow, and if we must have a Democrat, he may as well draw the pay as any of them.—We congratulate the Democratic party on the defeat of the notorious Dr. Olds, by Martin, in the Convention, and hope to congratulate the whole people of the District on the defeat of Mr. Martin by V. B. Horton, at the election in October.

We hear some grumbling among the Democrats of this county, but as we happen to be just now stopping for awhile in a big "glass house," we will agree not to throw stones, if our Democratic neighbors will assent to the compromise.

Clerk of the Court.

I will say to the electors of Meigs County, that I am a candidate for the office of Clerk at the ensuing election.

See the advertisement of the splendid steamer, Victor No. 2. This fine boat makes regular tri-weekly trips between this place and Portsmouth. Persons travelling on either business or for pleasure, will find the appointments of this boat all that can be desired.

Special Notice to Teachers.

The "Meigs County Educational Association" will hold their Annual Institute in Pomerooy, during the week commencing August 27. It is hoped that a very large proportion of the Teachers of the County may avail themselves of this most valuable, yet almost gratuitous means of benefiting themselves and advancing the cause of popular education. The services of competent lecturers from abroad have been secured. Among these, Mr. Smyth, our able State School Commissioner, is expected.

Arrangements have been made for boarding the Teachers gratuitously, in private families.

By order of the Exec. Committee.

THE BELL-EVERETT CONVENTION.

Which met at Chillicothe the other day, nominated a full electoral ticket.—This was consistent and right. We do not suppose they expect to carry a large vote. But if they are honest men, and believe they are sustaining correct principles, the smallness of their numbers should not abate from the respect they deserve from their fellow-citizens who disagree with them. We think they are all wrong, but if they will repudiate all corrupt "fusion" and vote their own ticket, in a hopeless minority, we can well believe them honestly in earnest, and shall treat and respect them accordingly. The evidence of their sincerity would have been more satisfactory if they had nominated a full State ticket instead of pledging themselves, as they did, in a not very straight-forward course, to one, at least, of the Democratic candidates. But let that pass.—If all the parties and factions would but run their own candidates, the people would have an opportunity to decide between them. But with the "fusions" and coalitions forming in most of the States, the votes of the people will be without significance beyond the present success of a few scheming politicians.

We shall hail the day when sham, disguise, intrigue and double-dealing shall be driven from the political arena, by a fair, honest, distinct enunciation of principles, and an appeal to the unbiased judgment of the people on the opposing issues. And to aid in bringing about this result, we would like to see every party stand upon its own platform, there to receive the judgement of the people upon its simple merits.

ANTIQUITIES AND PEACHES.

Master Howard Clinton Sayer, a genuine seven-year-old Republican, of Leart, last week presented us with a basket of very fine peaches, and seven flint darts. The peaches were such as young Republicans everywhere ought to cultivate—sound as the political principles they profess, and as grateful to the taste as truth is to the unperverted mind.—Thanks, Master Howard, for the luscious peaches.

The darts were taken from a mound on the farm of Mr. E. Sayer, the father of our young friend. About a peck of them were found in a pile. They vary in length, from two and a half, to eight inches, and in width from one to three inches. Some of them are white, and some black flint stone. Some were evidently intended as arrow heads, while the larger ones were probably used by very ancient "John Browns," to grasp the "pike poles." And who knows but some unremembered Gov. Wise, who flourished in the days of the "Mound Builders," may have been as badly "scared" by these "pike heads" as our modern hero of the Virginia "Oyster war"?

Mr. Sayer can't read very accurately these untranslatable memorials of the olden times. But being assured that there is "nothing new under the sun," it may be safely assumed that the builders of these mounds, and the manufacturers of these weapons, loved and hated, laughed and wept, married and were divided, had their politicians and demagogues—parties and factions—their Buchanan, and Douglasses, and Breckinridges—their secessionists and disunionists, and "squatter sovereigns." We suppose, too, they had some Lincolns and genuine Republicans among them, but for the want of "free schools" and an "independent press," the factions formed a Breckinridge-Bell-Everett-Douglas "fusion," from which resulted very naturally the dissolution of their Union and a general smash-up.

But all this is but matter of inference. We think there can be no doubt, however, that the "Democracy" of those days were in the ascendancy, and that they do now in the purely Democratic States, that letters were "incendiary," and the ability to write, "incipient treason," for we find no inscriptions in these mounds. The "irrepressible conflict" was, no doubt, "repressed," and under the shadowing wings of an earlier "Dred Scott Decision," the Divine right of the strong to enslave the weak was fully established, and "old functionaries" were as much "astonished" as our own imbecile President, that "anybody should presume to doubt it."

We thank our young Republican friend for his present of these relics of forgotten ages; and assure Governor Wise that, although Master Howard has the dangerous ability to read, and is a regular reader of the Telegraph, yet we do not believe he intends to use these desperate weapons—reading and flints, and especially the latter—to extinguish "rivers of blood" in the "institutions" of our "Southern brethren."

Communicated.

For the Pomerooy Weekly Telegraph.

WHEREAS, It has pleased an All-wise Providence to remove by death the companion of our respected and beloved Brother, John E. Hampton, and the daughter of our worthy and loved Brother, Edmund Williamson; therefore, 1st, Be Resolved, That in the dispensation of Providence, by which our brethren have been bereft of a companion and a daughter, the child of a mother's love and care, we recognize the hand of God, who doth not afflict willingly the children of men, but who, though he causes sorrow, will yet have compassion according to the multitude of his tender mercies.

2d, Resolved, That in the excellence of her life and in the triumph of her death, our bereaved brethren may find strong consolation in the midst of their grief, and encouragement to live with unwearying diligence, the practice of honest and honorable lives.

3d, Resolved, That for our bereaved brethren, for the motherless child, we feel the deepest sympathy, and that we hereby tender to them our condolence as brethren, and pledge ourselves anew that for their child we shall ever cherish feelings of fraternal solicitude and regard.

4th, Resolved, That to the friends of the deceased, we extend to them, as brethren of the same Great Parent, in their affliction, our deepest sympathy and kindest regards.

All of which is respectfully submitted, in F. L. and T.

D. E. SMITH, Com. F. LYMAN, Secy.

DIED.

The above preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted by Mineral Lodge No. 242, I. O. O. F., and ordered to be published in the Pomerooy Weekly Telegraph.

PETER GILMORE, Secy.

MARRIED.

On the 14th inst., by Rev. S. M. Bright, Mr. BAPTISTE GILMORE, of Point Pleasant, Va., and Miss ELIZABETH A. COHEN, daughter of Mr. H. Cohen, of this place.

With this notice came a beautiful supply of such "cake" and other good things as merited a poetical acknowledgment. But in the absence of the "engineer" of our poetical "machine" we cannot make it work. All we can do, therefore, is, in the plainest prose, to wish the happy pair the full realization of their brightest anticipations.
